

NorthJersey.com

Park Ridge musician opened for Kenny Loggins

Thursday, November 25, 2010

PASCACK VALLEY COMMUNITY LIFE

Park Ridge resident Larry Stevens spent his birthday this year, Nov. 11, opening up for one of his musical idols, Kenny Loggins, at the BergenPAC in Englewood. Although Stevens has opened up for other big names in the past—among them Foreigner, Peter Frampton, and Todd Rundgren—he was in awe of the opportunity. Stevens, who describes himself as a cross between John Mayer and Elvis Costello, opened his show with a new instrumental song, "Feel It," off his upcoming record, due for release in the spring. His set was most comprised of songs off his previous two albums, "Downstairs at Mayo's" and "Heart of a Fighter." For further information visit larrystevensband.com.

PHOTO COURTESY OF LARRY STEVENS